

Need Actors for Action Reenactment

Hiztorical Vision Productions (HVP) is a nonprofit 501 (c)(3) organization that produces educational short-films to the public. We primarily focus on the success stories in African American history with the hope of motivating underserved communities and ultimately people of all demographics. HVP is located in Auburn, Alabama and would like to work with the Auburn Area Community Theatre.

Description: Two white women by the name of Charlette Thorn and Mabel Dillingham were teachers at Hampton Normal school and happened to be in the crowd as Booker T. Washington gave a speech at Hampton. Charlette and Mabel were moved by his words. So, they decided to move to Alabama (Calhoun, AL in Lowndes County) below Montgomery to start a school for blacks in 1892 (K-6th grade) with the support of Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee Institute. The school was called Calhoun Colored School.

NEEDS

- Two actresses (Age:20-35): To act as Charlette Thorn and Mabel Dillingham
- Young actors and actress (Age: 8-12) To act as the students of Calhoun Colored School
- All Cast would need to wear costumes from the 1890's.
